CLOWN CITY

The population of clowns in Clown Town has gotten so large that it is now a city. Clown City, population: the person reading this zine. If you have a city full of clowns then every job will be done in the most outrageous slapstick kind of way. The butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, all of them will be clowning around the whole time. You would think that because the customers are also clowns that they would be immune to the gags, but that's the thing, the more clowns involved the better the gag gets because they all play along.

The streets of Clown City are vibrant and colorful, but not too many cars because every clown likes to carpool. There could be a whole bus full of clowns in any given car driving down the street in Clown City. Clown City has a diverse population, from JP Patches type clowns to modern circus clowns, from rodeo clowns to birthday party clowns, even Pennywise, the Killer Clowns from Outer Space, and Ronald McDonald live here.

If you are a clown who prefers a slower pace, and doesn't want the hustle and bustle of Clown City you can live out on the outskirts of the city You could be a clown farmer with a clown cow and clown dog. This might be where the hobo clowns with bindles come from. The clown farmers grow the flowers that spray seltzer water in your face.

There are no cops in clown town (although you can imagine the hijinks would be hilarious) but anyone who does something wrong immediately gets a pie in the face.

If you haven't guessed already this weeks prompt is Clown City and all the Night Drawers have been clowning around making a zine for you to read. Turn the page to see a little slice of life from the clowniest city of all. Clown City

The Night Drawer is a drawing night and collaborative art zine made every week on Sundays at Le Voyeur in Olympia, WA. At 7pm a new prompt is chosen from the drawer and eveyone is invited to make a page inspired by that prompt. No one knows what the prompt will be beforehand, but anyone can add new prompts into the drawer at any time. All the pages are collected and made into this zine. The Night Drawer is open to the public and welcomes artists of all styles and skill levels.

This week's artists are:
